

HOOSIERS WILL SCRATCH TICKET

*Indiana Situation Mystery to Political ProphetsCoolidge Conceded Winner by Large MajorityKlan Issue Splits Parties on State Tickets*BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 15.—By that rasping sound which will be heard in the nation on November 4, you will know that the Hoosiers are "scratching" the ticket as never before and recording thereby a variety of feelings too deep for utterance.

The political slaughter on that day, I conclude, is going to be frightful to contemplate and which party, faction, or individuals are likely to be the chief victims it would be difficult to attempt to predict with certainty.

My judgment is that Coolidge and Davis will carry Indiana with their divided electoral votes, though by now a plurality for the former. In the 135,000 margin which the State gave to Harding in 1920, Upward of 40,000 is what the pro-Coolidge plurierty looks like now. The most important factor, however, is that the Hoosiers think Davis is steadily gaining ground in the State but a "fighting chance" is the best they can say of his prospects of becoming Indiana's man.

The La Follette leaders, likewise, concede the State to Coolidge. As matters now stand, Davis will run second, and La Follette third. But the Coolidge men have no idea about the extent of the Republican accomplishment on election day. The Governor and most state officeholders probably will go to the Democrats. The Republicans hope that Coolidge will win by a vote so large that the Republican State ticket will ride in on the crest of the Coolidge wave.

KLAN IS FACTOR

The Klan issue is at the bottom of all the troubled Hoosier politics. Of course, there are other considerations operating also to complicate the situation, other than Radical Republicans and Democrats. Radical Republicans and Democrats, supporting La Follette and some conservative Democrats will vote for Coolidge to insure the disposal of both La Follette and Charles E. Wilson, a future successor to tariff, government economy and other issues are influencing votes but the Klan is the one big burning political issue of the election in the State.

Ed Jackson, Republican candidate for Governor, is backed by the Klan, while Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, the most radical candidate, is an anti-Klan and therefore has the touchstone of the entire political contest in Indiana from the office of President down to the smallest township. The Hoosiers agree to vote on the Governorship is the leading question everywhere and is affecting the chance of every other candidate for post or office.

The Klan issue has split both the old parties, realigned factions and sundry families politically. The Klan, which dominates the State, is supported by the assistance of Democrat Klemens to the effort to elect Jackson, while anti-Klan Republicans are out working openly for Dr. McCulloch.

ALIENATED BY KLAN

Republican foes of the Klan to a considerable number of votes for either Davis or La Follette do not vote the national ticket at all in order to register their dissatisfaction with the President's failure to denounce the hooded order.

The largest groups of voters alienated from normal party affiliations by the Klan issues are the negroes and the Jews. Republicans swear year in and year out that they have the touchstone of the Klan, while many others will not vote the national ticket at all from fear of being caught in the making of the ballot and for validating their votes against Jackson.

An air of mystery and suspicion prevails among the politicians. The Kluges and Cyclopes with much giving of passwords and counter-signs are invoking powerful

LOS ANGELES REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW INCREASE OF 269,707 VOTERS SINCE 1920

Registration in Los Angeles city and county for the general election, November 4, is 656,073. This tremendous registration represents an increase of 88,934 over registration for the primary election held last August; an increase of 132,648 over registration for the Presidential primary last May, and an increase of 269,707 over the registration for the Presidential election in 1920.

Republicans registered for the November election total 291,086, of whom 216,483 are in Los Angeles city and 174,573 in the county.

The Democratic registration in the city is 77,010 and in the county, 62,383.

Although the greatest proportionate gain in registration since the August primary is in the group declining to State party affiliation, the increase in this classification being 21,118, the greatest actual increase is in the Republican column, which shows a gain of 40,001 over the registration for the election sixty days ago.

Totals as compiled by County Registrar of Voters Kerr are as follows:

	Republican	Democratic	Socialist	Prohibition	Not Stated	Total
Los Angeles city ...	216,483	77,010	5,157	4,804	59,940	360,094
Los Angeles county ...	174,573	62,383	3,776	7,413	47,834	291,086
Totals ...	391,056	139,392	8,938	11,917	104,774	656,073

Los Angeles city and county have a total registration 269,707 excess of the entire California registration for President in 1920. The registration here is more than double that of San Francisco and is believed to far exceed one-third of the entire registration of the State.

secret influence for Jackson, Klan "occupy" high places in the McCulloch organization, it is said, and anti-Klan wreckers are getting the upper hand over Klan management. Political leaders who have worked together for years, and themselves suspecting one another.

In other counties the Democratic organization is pre-Klan and supporting Jackson, it having been necessary to create rump committees to handle McCulloch's残黨. In about as many counties, the Republican organizations are supporting McCulloch. Senator Jim Watson's immediate followers, which is perhaps the best known movement, are supporting Davis. Jackson's movement, however, has taken alarm at plans of the Klan to run Jackson for the Senate against Watson in 1926. With plot and counterplot the situation baffles comprehension.

TURN LIGHT ON FUNDS OF ALL PARTIES

Borah Committee Will Open Broad Inquiry Into Campaign Expenses Today

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—A broad inquiry into contributions and expenditures in the national Presidential campaign will be put under way here tomorrow by a special committee of the United States Senate, of which Senator William Borah is chairman.

While the committee was unable to meet at this time because of the charge of Senator Robert M. La Follette that the Republicans had been enrolling or conscripting into the political army led by Robert La Follette.

The speaker, who predicted President Coolidge's election, charged that Senator La Follette hoped to throw the contest into Congress with the intention of naming and crowning a President and in that way gain for himself a greater power than that possessed by the man who was elected.

Quoting Samuel Gompers as having previously opposed Socialists within labor unions, the speaker said he was considerably surprised at the position of Gompers. From Morrison, Matthew Woll and other American Federation of Labor leaders supporting Senator La Follette, he said: "Warning international officers of labor organizations that a day of reckoning is coming, because the members of our unions who own union funds are going to demand an accounting."

They will ask," he said, "why a bunch of old组织者 have been placed on the different international pay rolls, not for the purpose of organizing members in foreign countries, but for the purpose of boosting the political cause of Robert La Follette and Burton Wheeler."

Representatives from each of these organizations were present at the meeting.

These men are broad-gauge," Mr. Stewart said. "They fully appreciate the fallacy of the claims made by the opposition, and are able to draw a parallel analysis of the case that has existed in the past, and the effect upon railroad business reactions and slumps."

Fred E. Stewart, member of the Order of Railway Conductors, told local Republican campaign leaders yesterday that the railroad men are not united with La Follette and his platform, and, although a strong sentiment favorable to La Follette existed at the opening of his campaign, his forces are now leaning toward the opposition.

Mr. Stewart, with Frank J. Cummings, a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has been active in urging in negotiations on behalf of Coolidge and Davis among the railroad men of Kern county.

"These men are broad-gauge," Mr. Stewart said. "They fully appreciate the fallacy of the claims made by the opposition, and are able to draw a parallel analysis of the case that has existed in the past, and the effect upon railroad business reactions and slumps."

ARMY AND NAVY DAY AT FIESTA

U.S.S. Seattle Steams Into Monterey Harbor

Admiral Coontz Formally Received on Shore

Rain Causes Postponement of Scheduled Pageant

BY NEETA MARQUIS
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
MONTEREY, Oct. 15.—With the U.S.S. Seattle steaming into the harbor of Monterey at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and Admiral R. E. Coontz formally received on shore at 11, the fourth day of the Serra pilgrimage festivities took on an aspect different from the splendid past presented in pageant. The Army and Navy held day at the Del Monte polo field with troops of the Eleventh United States Cavalry, Second Ninth United States Field Artillery, Thirtieth Infantry and bluesjackets and Marines from the U.S.S. Seattle acting as hosts to civilians.

The polo field located in a circle of oak-clad hills was an animated scene as changing groups of men in various ways through intricate maneuvers and military and marine bands filled the air with inspiring music. The old-time set up in the small canyon which makes the pageant stage, had to give way. It would be given tonight in the open, if weather permits, and on Saturday night in Carmel, either in the Forum, Auditorium or in the Arts and Crafts Theater.

This production is Carmel's contribution, the cast with but few exceptions being made up of Carmelians. Artie Clegg, the director, is also Carmel resident. Mrs. Philip Kearney Gordon, wife of the vice-president of the pilgrimage organization, is playing the coloratura soprano part of Juana, the "rose" bringing to the part some years of experience and training in London. Lester Seib Vall plays the role of Don Luis. Frank Gandy, who has come to California for the purpose after the completion of a successful season in New York, George Kegs of San Francisco, captain of the Kegs Marching Band, and the Crafts Theater, or in the Arts and Crafts theater.

MISSION FOUNDING

The historical feature of yesterday was the morning pageant, "The Founding of San Carlos Mission," on the site of Monterey. The San Carlos Church on the site of the original building as a background. This was the third episode of the "Pageant of the West" and showed Fray Junipero Serra at the time of the second Portola expedition, establishing his mission for the Indians in Northern California in 1770.

The effect was simple, but moving, as at the conclusion of the religious rite, the bell of the primitive mission rang as did those of old brought from Mexico by the padres and suspended from the limb of a tree in symbol of the name of God to be erected there.

DANCE CONTEST

The traditional Spanish dance contest is attracting increasing interest as the elimination contests weed out the less expert contestants. The winners of the preliminary round for the contest were a clever little couple from San Jose, Pearl Nunes a diminutive blonde, draped in a black Spanish shawl, and Piero, a tall one, known as the "pocket edition" of Valentino as a youthful Argentinian.

Another San Jose couple, A. J. Lavin and Dorothy Shaw, will challenge the first two for the world's championship today.

Marque Marquita Mack of Buffalo, N. Y., was the winner in the first round of the dancing contest. Misses Costello, Hiltz, McIlroy, Billy McConnell of Montevideo and Mr. and Miss Santagostino of Barcelona, Spain. The music for this competition was furnished by the orchestra of the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, and of the Hotel Del Monte. The contest is under management of J. D. Bell and Van Vleck of Monterey, who is directing all the dancing in the pageants.

About fifty craftsmen attended the meeting. The organization will hold its next meeting over 342 South Broadway in two weeks, Mr. Hold said. The craftsman arranged to have show card writing shop open on Saturday afternoon. Among the speakers were Allen McAllister, J. C. McCloskey, artist Paul Lunder, Barker Brothers, Inc.; Samuel A. Fink and Mr. Held.

PARKING PLAN UP TO COUNCIL NEXT WEEK

The City Council next Thursday afternoon again will consider the question of reducing the afternoon no-parking zone for vehicles on the downtown streets recommended by the majority members of the City Council's Public Safety Committee. Chairman Sam Hart, chairman of the committee, has filed a minority report recommending that parking be prohibited from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

QUAKERS TO PICNIC

The all Southern California picnic reunion of the Pennsylvaniaians will be held in the grounds of Forest Grove Park with basket dinners at noon. Headquarters will be opened for each county. Hot coffee supplied for all. The program of address and music will be in the afternoon.

SLEEP WALK SUSPECTED IN MYSTERY

Owners Regain Articles; How They Found Way Into Woman's Home Unsolved

Ten residents in the neighborhood of Sixty-ninth street and Converse avenue who were mystified by the disappearance Monday night of such articles as garden hose, a plow, flower pots and a motorometer, yesterday regained their lost property and all was quiet in the neighborhood. The mystery, however, cannot be solved for life of man to explain how the articles came into the house unless, as suggested by Deputy Sheriff Greg and Freeman, they collected them during a sleep-walk.

Eight of the residents lost various other articles. One of them believed he saw some of his plants in the yard of Mrs. Roach, 6924 Converse avenue, who cannot for the life of her explain how the articles got into her home. She, however, as suggested by Deputy Sheriff Greg and Freeman, collected them during a sleep-walk.

During the course of his talk a number of La Follette followers started a round of hisses at the Congressman's attack on La Follette. They were answered by jeers and boos from the rest of the audience until the hecklers were forced to leave the building. The meeting continued peacefully.

Consequently, Lineberger declared that the candidates of Senator La Follette and Senator Wheeler constitute an insult to the principles of the American people. It was then that the hissing of the La Follette hecklers began. The rest of the house staged a short discussion of the principles of the speaker's address.

Mr. Lineberger made a bitter attack on the convention at Cleveland which nominated La Follette as the candidate of the Socialist party. He pointed out that the Socialist candidate was nominated by a hand-picked group, as was Wheeler. He pointed out that there are eight states where the primary is authorized, but in the eleven La Follette took his cause before only two of them. One of them was Wisconsin, his home state, where he won. The other was North Carolina, where he lost. The speaker demanded to know why La Follette failed to take his cause before the other sixteen states.

The victims of this mystery were Mrs. Eugene T. Kelly, 7821 Converse avenue; Mrs. R. H. Campbell, 7827 Converse avenue; Mrs. Fred P. Conkle, 7025 Converse avenue; Mrs. R. A. Campbell, 6747 Converse avenue; Mrs. Fred Bright, 7015 Converse avenue; Mrs. Fred L. Munch, 6947 Converse avenue; Mrs. John O'Malley, 7021 Converse avenue; Mrs. A. H. Elsie, 1640 Santa Maria avenue, and Mrs. John H. McLaughlin, 1844 Santa Maria avenue.

CANTON SET ON FIRE BY CHINA REDS

Five Blazes Burning in City as Missionaries Ask Aid of America

BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS
HONGKONG, Oct. 15.—Fires started by Chinese "Reds" were burning fiercely in five parts of Canton tonight, according to word received here from that city. The situation is described as serious. The Reds, who are known to be the blazes by pouring kerosene in the blazes and setting fire to it, thus igniting the inflammable buildings.

The meeting was presided over by Frank P. Marriam of Long Beach, Speaker of the State Assembly. Chester Rowell, well-known former newspaper man of Fresno, addressed the talk, calling upon the voters to rally to the Republican standard.

AUTO LOSES RACE TO CAR; MAN KILLED

Woman May Die; Driver is Held on Suspicion of Manslaughter

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Oct. 15.—The attempt of an automobile driver to make a start over a crossing cost the life of one man and a woman to Seaside Hospital in a critical condition and caused the driver to be locked up on suspicion of manslaughter, according to the police tonight.

Charles Miller, 40 years of age, an oil worker living at 1045 Alvarado avenue, was the dead man. He was crushed to death beneath the wheels of the street car when he saw the impending crash and attempted to leap to safety.

Miller, 40, of 1043 West Third street, is in Seaside Hospital suffering from a skull fracture and other injuries which may cause permanent disability.

Walter Baker, 43, the driver and one of the owners of the Baker Transfer Company, suffered a dislocated shoulder, it was learned from the police. Admitted after the accident that he, Miller and Mrs. Harding had been riding around Long Beach in his small car, after taking a few drunks. Baker said he saw the street car and attempted to beat it over the intersection.

The accident occurred at the Pacific Electric crossing over Temple avenue. Baker's car was southbound and was struck by an eastbound Seal Beach car.

The suspects declined to talk after their arrest and incarceration in the jail cells, but one was held on suspicion of grand larceny.

CATTLEMAN IN DEAL TO DRIVE DEER

Hunt Asks Contract on Venture to Take 5000 Across Grand Canyon

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 15.—Gov. Hunt today requested George McCormick, Coconino county cattleman, to make a contract with him to drive a herd of 5000 deer from the Kaibab Forest on the north rim of the Grand Canyon to the Colorado River, to the point where the mouth of the river meets the Colorado River and the ascent of the mountain wall of the canyon to the south rim.

The cattleman contemplated the hunt as a measure to relieve overstocked conditions on the north rim, where the deer number more than 60,000.

The plan was originated by McCormick as a measure to relieve

LINEBERGER DENOUNCES LA FOLLETTE

Large Long Beach Crowd Shouts Support of G.O.P.; Hecklers Howled Down

Addressing a crowd of 3000 enthusiastic persons who crowded into the Municipal Auditorium at a Republican meeting at Long Beach last night, Congressman Walter F. Lineberger tore into the La Follette-Wheeler campaign tactics and principles.

During the course of his talk a number of La Follette followers started a round of hisses at the Congressman's attack on La Follette. They were answered by jeers and boos from the rest of the audience until the hecklers were forced to leave the building. The meeting continued peacefully.

Consequently, Lineberger declared that the candidates of Senator La Follette and Senator Wheeler constitute an insult to the principles of the American people.

Jefferson and Lincoln High Elevens Clash on Coliseum Gridiron This Afternoon

RAILSPITTERS ARE FAVORITES

Jeff Coach Expects a Four-Touchdown Licking

Pair of Lightweight Tilts Also on for Today

Poly-Hollywood, Franklin-L.A. Meet Tomorrow

Jefferson and Lincoln High football squads will occupy the spotlight of local grid interests this afternoon when they clash in the opening game of the 1924 City League season at the Coliseum.

Coch Coach Feit will present all-out complete verbal squad and, consequently, the Railspitters are favored to wallop their Democrat rivals.

The Lincoln Democats, commanded by Capt. Bill Nolan,

Coach Morris, and Capt. Jim

McGinnis, had a powerful combination that has scored against everything sent

against it, and should make

at least a good showing.

Out at Jefferson, Coach Dave

Fryer, who is handling the Democrat grid destined for the first few weeks if his squad holds

the Railspitters to four, count 'em

touchdowns.

In Ed Kirwan's

Democats have a gleaming backfield, with Clark and "Brick"

Smith playing the two halves and McCullum fullback. Smith, although an all-around player, is substitute halfback, and his sub-

half carrier and of late has developed a passing arm that will come in mighty handy when Bell graces

the board.

Lincoln is conceded by the so-called experts of having one of the strong crews in the city loop

and, consequently, the Railspitters

are favored to wallop the Railspitters, their most troublesome opponents since Van Peet's

squad the 31st inst.

This afternoon's game will start promptly at 3:15 o'clock.

A couple of lightweight clashes

will also be held today. Los Angeles High Lightweights face

Franklin on the Kitefliers' field,

while Coach Ralph Jackson's

Midgets will journey out to Hollywood for a crack at the Football bantams.

Tonight afternoons, the big fellows come out to host a gathering of the prep football enthusiasts.

Hollywood and Poly tangle in the Coliseum, while Franklin and

Los Angeles High hook up on Roush

Field.

POLY VS. HOLLYWOOD

Probably because it takes place

in the Coliseum, the Poly-Hollywood game is presented as the handicapped game of the day.

The hillbillys, under the tutelage of Coach

"Indian Joe" Kelly, have made an impressive showing in practice

and are favorites to romp

over and around Varsity Brennen's

Mechanics.

The Movie City squad is credited with being the best in the city and

which should completely baffle

the inexperienced Poly backfield.

At the start of the year Coach

Brennen's team was a powerful eleven, but injuries and ineligibility rules have practically

ruined the Mechanics' title aspirations. Both the Hillbillys and the bantams are favored to win

over the Poly.

Franklin-Los Angeles High

should be a better name than

a lot of people expect. As a matter of habit the Pioneers are favored to win, but the Kitefliers

looked good in practice this season. In both the Cactus Fresh and the Roosevelt clashes the Franklin outfit is favored to win. This indicates that Coach Tennessee has built up an offensive. However,

Coach Bruce Kirkpatrick probably will be unable to make the

capable of taking care of itself.

LA FOLLETTE

Every voter, man and woman, should read "Let X = La Follette", by SAMUEL G. BLYTHE, in the October 18th issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

In the present situation, La Follette, himself a practical politician, becomes the greatest unknown quantity that has ever developed in American politics. Not the shrewd, only the fatuous politicians wave him aside as a factor. What is the game?

COOLIDGE GIVES AIRMAN PRAISE

ZR-3 Chief Congratulated by President

Executive is First Official to Laud Flight

New Epoch in Air Navigation Predicted in Wire

1 P.M. NIGHT WIRE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Coolidge was the first of officials Washington today to congratulate the commander of the ZR-3 on the successful completion of his record-breaking flight from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst.

Word of the land was given to the President within a few minutes after she had come to the ground at the Lakehurst airbase and the President dispatched a message to Dr. Hugo Eckener, who was charged with her delivery to the United States.

In other government quarters especially at the Naval War College constant vigil has been held since the ship rose from her German starting point, great enthusiasm and relief were evident at her safe arrival.

President Coolidge termed the performance of the ZR-3 as an epochal achievement.

"I congratulate you," he telegraphed to Dr. Eckener, "upon the successful completion of the trans-Atlantic flight of the great dirigible which you have brought from Germany to the United States."

"It is not merely a stirring experience, a splendid achievement. Far more than an especial achievement, because it demonstrates as never before the feasibility of long-distance flight by lighter-than-air craft, and their ability and significant tonnages in passengers or cargoes."

"The skill and efficiency of the German technicians, upon build-

The coming was a gentle roll and pitch but not uncomfortable. When we reached the sea the bumpy motion ceased.

At 4 o'clock when the watch was over the men stretched out comfortably and began to hawk up sleep against their night watches. Some of the more energetic ones played a tune on the violin, though the music was not approved. Evening fell over a calm sea with a clear sky, just enough red in the west to be a reminder.

The course was laid for Cape Finisterre, but darkness fell before we sighted the Spanish Coast.

Dr. Eckener, who is here in the dirigible about 7 o'clock, the ship began to jump about. We looked out of the window and then under a full moon, lay the compass course of 120°.

We had the La Estacada lighthouse abeam and course was laid for the Azores. During the night the crew and spectators watched occasionally by sighting on torches.

"When the end of our watch period came we found the beds comfortable and decided to have disturbed sleep. I bought a large woolen comforter and blanket in Friederichshafen, and this would serve as a mattress, and this would serve in thinning the deer herds that are declared to be overstocking the country north of the river.

"In the morning of the 13th Little Hsu was detained on two grounds, one that the proclamation of the Chinese authorities may have the effect of halting a renewal of the war on the borders of the foreign settlements since Little Hsu has been engineering a grudge against the Chinese government and to force the Chinese Chamber of Commerce here to put up a large sum of money to help him thus avoiding disorder in the city.

Little Hsu, since his decision made last night to renew the war, has been 16 hours trying to all day throwing up breastworks and planting batteries of artillery set up in front of the Hotel Asia.

inst, we passed directly over a British steamer sailing in the opposite direction. By radio the ZR-3 inquired the steamer's position and reply was received indicating that we had drifted about forty miles southward of our original position. Course was accordingly changed and at 11:40 San Miguel Island was sighted on the port bow.

At 2:20 we reached the southwestern end of Terceira Island and traversed its south coast. After taking a bearing on the island,升 to a height of about 8000 feet in order to lift the safety valves and lose lifting gas to compensate for the loss of weight of gasoline.

"RIP DISCOVERED
"During this maneuver today something happened which must be carefully watched during such maneuvers. Upon returning to flying height, which was at this time about 1000 feet, a rip about two feet long and deep in the lower part of one of the gas cells. This was immediately repaired and the result was nothing worse than a small amount of air finding its way into the cell to mix with the hydrogen and reduce its purity. If, however, the hole had been larger or had not been so soon discovered, much greater damage could easily have been done.

But the commander of the Zeppelin, despite the strain of the trans-Atlantic flight, had commanded the engineers to inspect the bottom of the gas cells, the only part they can see, during each condensation gain or loss of altitude.

"At a height of 5000 feet down to 2000 feet we were approaching Picou Island and all could see the island was a triangular in outline, protecting above the clouds. From 3:20 we were passing through and over the islands.

"WATER SHORTAGE
"Calmly everyone sat earlier in the day. The fresh water gave out. We have joined the ranks of the unwashed and unshaven. The commissary promises to ration sufficient water for what may be found in buildings if we land soon enough. He is meanwhile furnishing good, hot meals and we are at least well fed. We are well housed, too, and anyone can still make a couple of trips a day through the corridor from the tip of the nose back and down to the stern. The lower deck need not complain of lack of air."

"The night of the 13th was marked by adverse winds of considerable strength. As soon as weather reports came in next morning it was decided to head up to the northwest. In the meanwhile, a steamer had been asked for her position and the ZR-3 found herself, according to the steamer, about 120 miles to the north of the steamer's position. Communication was also established with the cruiser Detroit, and with all the available data as a guide, the course was laid north.

"PASS DOLLAR SHIP
"About 9:30 we passed directly above the steamer Robert Dollar. She hoisted her number in flag and ran up the British ensign. The ZR-3 then began to climb and rose to a height of about 8000 feet. This was to lift the safety valves again. The ship was about 1000 feet above the level of hydrogen from the gas cells, leaving them 80 percent full. About half of the fuel supply still remained, enough for another hour of running with five of the five engines at 1200 r.p.m., which gives about 57 knots.

"The trip above the clouds gave us a new relief from the 90 degree temperature we have had. It was 75 deg. in the cabin last night and continued warm today. Early in the afternoon the wind had calmed and for several hours the ship ran close to the surface of the sea, the better to judge the direction of the wind and the observing the waves. Then we climbed to above the fog, which was only 300 or 400 feet high, and the cold, still darkness obscured the surroundings. We felt a sympathy for the vessels in the fog; we have been there in surface ships ourselves and this fog extended over 400 miles.

"When I came on watch last midnight the ZR-3 was skirting the coast of Nova Scotia. The weather was a cold, bright night, a decided change from the night before. At 1:10 a.m. Seal Island was passed and the ship headed across the Gulf of Maine toward Boston. The case of arriving steamships.

Correct, Madam!

By E. C. RAGGIO, Investigation Clerk

LADY was waiting in my office while I went to look up a certain point on the consumers' ledger. In my absence she had been reading one of our Better Service Orders and observed on it the printed expressions "Test Meter K. O. B." and "Re-read Meter K. O. B." Upon my return she remarked, "It would be no wonder if you made mistakes if you read your meters by radio."

"K. O. B." does look like the call letters of a radio broadcasting station, no doubt; but it isn't. It is simply the office "shorthand" for "kick on bills", which in turn means a consumer's request for the investigation of a gas or electric bill.

Our Better Service Order was devised especially to facilitate the investigation of the service being rendered to consumers, and our relations with consumers. A Better Service Order is always in readiness to be used in your behalf if there is any point in connection with your service or treatment which to you is not satisfactory.

We want to give you perfect service and treatment. If we ever fail in so doing, please tell us about it.

CHINA REBEL HEADS SEIZED

Little Hsu and Other Generals Questioned in Plot to Renew Warfare in Shanghai

BY JOHN POWELL
BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15.—Authorities of the international settlement at Shanghai this afternoon arrested Gen. Hsu Shu Tseng, or Little Hsu; Gen. Cheng Lo Hsiang and five other generals of the local rebel troops, but later released them on the advice of the local consular body. However, the officers are being kept under surveillance pending advices from the Peking diplomatic body.

Little Hsu was taken to the office of the Italian Consul, who, as acting Senior Consul, questioned him as to his plans for a renewal of the war in the Shanghai area. Little Hsu admitted that he had been appointed head of the rebel forces and had been sent to the front to assist the rebels, but he disclosed an intention of interfering with the foreign settlements.

The arrest of the Chinese officers was made by the municipal police on information furnished by Talbot Patrick, a Chicago correspondent who recognized the generals they attempted to enter the foreign settlement in their uniforms.

The powers are taking extraordinary precautions tonight, barricading the streets with barbed wire and sandbags and setting up machine guns. As night falls, messages from the foreign area to the native district and vice versa are stopped, and the streets are guarded by both volunteers and American and other foreign marine sentinels.

ARMED DESPERADOES
The situation is most serious in the vicinity of the railway station where a force of desperados, armed with grenades, sabres and rifles, are making an attack. The powers are considering the extension of the foreign marine and local volunteer lines to include native areas where the railroads run.

The powers are taking extraordinary precautions tonight, barricading the streets with barbed wire and sandbags and setting up machine guns. As night falls, messages from the foreign area to the native district and vice versa are stopped, and the streets are guarded by both volunteers and American and other foreign marine sentinels.

GRUDGE PROPOSITION
It is thought tonight that the action of the Chinese authorities may have the effect of halting a renewal of the war on the borders of the foreign settlements since Little Hsu has been engineering a grudge against the Peking government and to force the Chinese government to take on this side.

END IN TRAGEDY
Subsequent attempts to equal or surpass the cruise of the R-34 ended in tragedy. The R-34 sold by Great Britain to the United States was consumed by fire and explosion, followed by a disastrous toll of life on a trial flight under British-American commanders over Hull, England.

A like fate attended the maiden flight of the Roma, acquired by the United States from Italy, set out from the British Isles on June 14, 1919. Sixteen hours and twenty minutes later, having traveled 222 miles of its route, they plunged with their aircraft into a bog near Clifden, Ireland.

Hardy had nations ceased to grieve over the accident of Alcock and Brown, when the British dirigible R-34 rose from East Fortune, Scotland, one day in July. She turned her nose toward America, stopped, and had a thirty-minute stopover en route to Mineola, Long Island. A few days later she had homeward, arriving in England after an uneventful passage.

TO AWAIT HELIUM
The perfect success of the trans-Atlantic flight of the ZR-3 from Germany to Lakehurst augurs well for the future of the lighter-than-air craft," said Maurice R. Pierce, acting commanding officer of the Navy air station.

"The ZR-3 will be better when we have helium," he said. "The Shenandoah was occasionally checked by bearings from radio compass stations and the British dirigible R-34 was passed about 3:15 a.m. eastern standard time and soon afterward the ship was sighted on the horizon. It was a sight to swell the bosom of every American and one never to be forgotten. Millions of lights, if not brighter, closed off by one could see the buildings and plantings of a town.

MOTORS WAKE NEW YORK SLEEPERS
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Just before the sun had dispelled the morning mist, droning motors sang a greeting to New York and the ZR-3 loomed above, a gray specter, hardly discernible from the fog through which it pushed. That first glimpse of the garrulous giant of the air was the privilege of the early riser toads and office buildings who was just finishing his job in the sun.

"The ZR-3 was a sight to aise the heart of every American and one never to be forgotten. Millions of lights, if not brighter, closed off by one could see the buildings and plantings of a town.

NONSTOP OCEAN TRIP IS FOURTH

Daring Flight of Englishmen in 1914 Recalled

Journey from Scotland Made by R-34 in 108 Hours

Tragedy of Roma Marked by Heavy Death Toll

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

Lakehurst, Oct. 15.—The safe arrival of the ZR-3 from Germany marks the fourth successful crossing of the Atlantic Ocean in nonstop flight. Aeronautic experts of the Army and Navy regard it as the most significant if not the most momentous event of the year. They believe that the world is witnessing evidence that the dirigible is destined to be the international passenger ship of the future.

The British team of Alcock and Brown, both Royal Flying Corps members, took off at Mineola, N. Y., in a Vickers Vimy biplane on June 14, 1919. Sixteen hours and twenty minutes later, having traveled 222 miles of their route, they plowed into a bog near Clifden, Ireland.

Hardy had nations ceased to grieve over the accident of Alcock and Brown, when the British dirigible R-34 rose from East Fortune, Scotland, one day in July. ## Days In Santa Monica's History—Her Golden Age Is Just Beginning

Santa Monica's Golden Age is just coming over the horizon of the years.

It is filled with wonderful things.

Art, science and religion will have their home.

A continent will pay tribute to recreation's capital. Society will be in its flower.

The higher, finer and more pleasurable things of experience will fill this place.

Happiness and prosperity will result.

It will be as impossible to sweep back the human tide as to sweep back the ocean.

Forerunners of this tide are already on the ground and solidly founded—

A college and college community with 1000 acres, a religious and educational organization and community with approximately 2000 acres, a leading athletic and social organization with over 2000 acres.

Just Like a Man

"My husband suffered from ulcers for many years. He often had colic attacks and the doctors didn't know what to do. They helped him, but he was still grasping for a cure. Then we heard about Dr. May's Wunderful Remedy. It is entirely well and safe and it cures all kinds of stomach trouble. It removes the catarrhal inflammation from the intestines and stomach, practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Two doses will cure you of appendicitis, tonsilitis, constipation or any other ailment. No money refunded. At no cost." (Advertisement.)

Important projects and developments are springing up like weeds in spring.

From the foundation of the town in 1875 until 1899 the residents of Santa Monica believed their principal hope of a future to be bound up in a commercial harbor.

After the government breakwater went to San Pedro in 1899 men could not see much commercial future and so those who loved Santa Monica as you see it in the above picture had their hearts' desire until 1921.

In 1921 began the present era which is the forerunner of Santa Monica's Golden Age.

Fortunate is he who has seen Santa Monica in the old days and has the picture to treasure in his heart.

Henceforth the works of man will be mingled with the beauty of nature, but millions of people will enjoy what thousands kept jealously before as their exclusive blessing.

The great public interest at this time is to secure harmonious development and prevent irreparable damage to the beauty and utility provided by nature.

The interest of groups, organizations and individuals is to secure the choicest locations for their own undertakings and homes.

Great hotel interests will be wise to secure their sites while choice sites are available. Certain locations are peculiarly adapted.

More hotels—the finest in America—to be run by the best hotel men in America—should be being built in Santa Monica.

Cool in summer, warm in winter, beautiful and inspiring always, located at the end of man's westward journey, in the front yard of the attractive and renowned capital of the Pacific Area, Santa Monica beckons the world.

And the world will come—just as fast as we make fitting hostelleries in which to entertain it.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ONTARIO, Oct. 15.—Reports that members of the Ku Klux Klan, who are credited with secretly circulating petitions asking the City Council to remove Chief of Police W. H. Hardy from office are advancing the case of John Raymond, filling station proprietor, and active Klansman, for the place, featured yesterday's reported controversies between the Klan and the police department.

Report further had that Patrolman A. S. Crossin, who recently gained notoriety for his part in the kidnapping of Mrs. L. R. Douglas, aged 71, who sustained a fractured skull when taken into custody by a group of asserted Klansmen, had been officially considered as a candidate for Police Chief, but was later rejected. Raymond at one time, some years ago, served on the police force as a patrolman, and it is believed he will be among those who are circulating the Hardy ouster petition, which will be presented to the Council next week. It is said.

Chief Hardy asserted today that some months ago he was solicited for membership in the Klan and that for a period of about six months, evidence of hostility on the part of members of that organization had been general.

Decision Ends Fears of Young Society Maids

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ONTARIO, Oct. 15.—Fears of Ontario society women that they would be subpoenaed to appear in court to testify in a case in which Ann King, a former employee, was suing Marguerite Lowe, proprietress of a beauty parlor at 125 North Main street, for recovery of $50, were set at rest today when Judge George R. Crane rendered a decision in favor of the defendant.

Mrs. Lowe is reported to have announced to patrons of her beauty shop, who shrank from appearing in court, that if the case went to trial she would not have to testify and other girls who had been afraid of the same course planned similar actions, it is said.

Judge Crane, however, decided that the suit had made good on her end of the bargain and awarded the plaintiff nothing.

Set Date for Bond Election at Resort City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Oct. 15.—The date of the gigantic bond election program to be submitted to voters here was officially scheduled for November 17, at the meeting of the Board of Trustees last night. The bonds, which are for municipal improvements, have been approved by experts, who were employed by the city.

Included in the program of bonds for civic improvements are: outfall sewage system, $22,000; protection, $22,000; north Trocadero beach tract, $22,000; comfort stations, $25,000; Walgrave subway for protection of school children, $25,000; city lighting, $20,000; fire protection, $20,000; municipal auditorium site, $40,000, and police patrol and signs, $10,000.

Although this city's assessed valuation is $22,000,000, its bonded indebtedness is exceedingly small in comparison with other cities throughout the state and the rest of the state. It is freely predicted that most of the bonds will be voted by citizens at next month's election.

Decision Ends Fears of Young Society Maids

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ONTARIO, Oct. 15.—Fears of Ontario society women that they would be subpoenaed to appear in court to testify in a case in which Ann King, a former employee, was suing Marguerite Lowe, proprietress of a beauty parlor at 125 North Main street, for recovery of $50, were set at rest today when Judge George R. Crane rendered a decision in favor of the defendant.

Mrs. Lowe is reported to have announced to patrons of her beauty shop, who shrank from appearing in court, that if the case went to trial she would not have to testify and other girls who had been afraid of the same course planned similar actions, it is said.

Judge Crane, however, decided that the suit had made good on her end of the bargain and awarded the plaintiff nothing.

KLAN WARS ON POLICE OFFICIALS

Ontario Ku Kluxers Would Make One of Their Order Head of Department

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ONTARIO, Oct. 15.—Reports that members of the Ku Klux Klan, who are credited with secretly circulating petitions asking the City Council to remove Chief of Police W. H. Hardy from office are advancing the case of John Raymond, filling station proprietor, and active Klansman, for the place, featured yesterday's reported controversies between the Klan and the police department.

Report further had that Patrolman A. S. Crossin, who recently gained notoriety for his part in the kidnapping of Mrs. L. R. Douglas, aged 71, who sustained a fractured skull when taken into custody by a group of asserted Klansmen, had been officially considered as a candidate for Police Chief, but was later rejected. Raymond at one time, some years ago, served on the police force as a patrolman, and it is believed he will be among those who are circulating the Hardy ouster petition, which will be presented to the Council next week. It is said.

Chief Hardy asserted today that some months ago he was solicited for membership in the Klan and that for a period of about six months, evidence of hostility on the part of members of that organization had been general.

LOVE-TRAP SET FOR DESPERADO

Notorious-Yegg Captured in Sweetheart's Home*Admits Part in Robberies of Postoffices*Murder Charged to Gunman by Associates

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—The love of James Madden, 34 years of age, a notorious yeggman, for a 20-year-old blonde girl who has come to him.

Madden, after his arrest, confessed he robbed the postoffices in which he worked for more than a year.

The girl is Calla Buchanan. She had been arrested two nights ago on a charge of disorderly conduct and was held for more than a week.

Madden, after his arrest, confessed he robbed the postoffices at Elkhorn, September 1, 1923, with the aid of two youths, William H. Bailey, a policeman, was killed when he surprised the yeggmen at work blowing the post office safe.

Madden arrived in the city a few days ago and learned his sweetheart had been arrested.

"BUMS SOMEONE OFF?"

"It's a frame-up," he told acquaintances in the underworld. "I'll bump someone off for this."

Laird, a police detective, heard of the robbery and wired with W. H. Bailey and Oscar Brown, also detectives, Postoffice Inspector Smith and two associates at the Eighth street house. Madden strolled along and started to enter.

Madden had served twelve years. He spent five years in prison at Norfolk, Va., five years at Baltimore, and two years at Columbia.

"I'm a $10,000-a-night man," he boasted as he admitted the Merchantville robbery. "I took those young fellows with me to do them a good turn. I knew it was taking a chance." The next time I'll work a chance."

The young man arrested for the robbery were Elmer Ulrich, 21, Bridgeton, and Ralph C. Thompson, Baileys, the policeman, died a month after the shooting. His death was attributed to heart disease induced by the wound he had received.

PALS NAME MADDEN

The youths, sentenced to life in prison, named Madden and their leader. They declared Madden had fired the shot which caused Bailey's death.

Madden is suspected of the robbery of the Post Office at the Company safe at Eighth and Calhoun streets and of robbing a postoffice at Allentown.

Madden charged with murder, burglary and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Postoffice inspectors are investigating the possibility he may be wanted in connection with a $100,000 mail robbery at Gadsden.

Detectives seeking Madden recently searched a house on Orkney street near Parrish. There, it was said, he kept a pet raccoon and a gun.

The detectives found the raccoon and the explosive but failed to find Madden.

PROFESSOR LET OUT DUE TO DIVORCE

E. H. Hall-Quest is Left Without Funds as Result of University's Action

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Prof. Edward Lawrence Hall-Quest resigned from the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh today, according to word received here from Pittsburg. The trustees of the university have given him the custody of his recent divorce by which he set his wife free to marry Frederick William Hart. The trustees' objections to his marriage were presented. The resignation leaves Prof. Hall-Quest without a position at a time when openings for teachers are few. He has a son and the couple have been divorced and separated. Mrs. Hall-Quest ran away with her son and has been with him to Cincinnati. Her son is in Cincinnati. Both of them let it be known that the elopement was to be permanent, and Mrs. Hall-Quest is left.

The professor set his wife free in Superior Court here yesterday without betraying the name of the other man. A week earlier, Mrs. Hall-Quest, a divorcee in Cincinnati, too, protected her rival, though the whole story of the runaway had become known at that time. Hart, a member of the Chicago accounting firm of Hart & Bauer, has been in Louisville for a week at work. Mrs. Hall-Quest has been hiding in Chicago. When Hart returns they plan to marry.

HUGHES SCORES RADICAL AIDS

change be submitted to the people for their decision, Secretary Hughes commented.

"But what is the reason for the amendment? Why is it proposed? Simply to attain the end which we have described."

STOP IT AT BEGINNING

"The time to stop a revolution is now, if you do not like it, it is when it starts. The introduction of a constitutional amendment is the first step toward defeat. The end, if you do not like the end, this step should be taken."

Turning to John W. Davis' criticism of the economic policies of the Coolidge-Harding administration, Senator La Follette said that the Democratic nominee's statements "would seem to show that he is without accurate information as to what had been going on in this country during the last few years," and declared the economic situation of 1920 and 1921 was due to the "unwise financing policy" of the Coolidge administration.

The Democratic administration planted a mine under our economic system and blew it up and the Democrats try to hold us responsible for the debris," he said.

When the Republican administration came into office in March, 1921, it inherited from the Wilson administration over 4,500,000 unemployed. There is no unemployment in the United States today of any consequence. There are 600,000 people in Europe receiving unemployment doles from the governments. The 4,500,000 unemployed in the United States all returned to jobs in twelve months and many of them earlier.

SOLUTION NO ACCIDENT

"The solution of the unemployment problem was no accident. The Republican administration believed that there was a fundamental of its problems and that every function of the government should be bent to its solution. Fortunately, it was the public administration which was able to bring to the service of the country Herbert Hoover as Secretary of Commerce.

He came to the rescue of the administration at once to undertake to restore confidence in the commercial and industrial world. Commerce and industry were assured that the government would administer and do its best to help."

"We cannot escape a personal responsibility to our own constituents. We cannot regard these as wise or safe counsellors in public affairs who deny those principles and seek to support the theory that society can succeed when the individual fails."

"There is no way by which we can substitute the virtue of man for the virtue of man. Peace, justice, humanity, charity, these cannot be legislated into being."

From the life of Bishop Asbury, who came to the rescue of the Revolutionary War, the President drew a lesson of sacrifice and devotion which he said "has gone into the making of our country." He recalled that the great bishop had been born in 1709, a mile from the status quo boundary between Turkey and Iraq.

It is hoped that the matter may be settled without convoking a special session of the Congress. It is officially stated at the League headquarters that the Council of the League will be convened to interpret the controversy over the double operation of credit and systematically stimulate exports. The buying power of the League is to be increased to $100,000,000 and the goods were restored. Similar stimulation was given to the exports of other agricultural produce.

"The government doubled its foreign trade and then became active agents in the selling of American goods abroad. The increase in sales of automobiles, tires, cotton and steel articles is definitely shown in the export report."

CAPITAL FREEED

When the Republican administration came into the government it was financing itself by borrowing billions from the banks and the capital that should have flowed to commerce and industry was frozen in the investment securities and the mobile capital of the country was freed for its rightful work.

"The Federal Reserve rates were lowered from the deflation rates of the previous administration and capital was made available to commercial borrowers instead of speculators."

"In October, 1921, the Secretary of Commerce called the men employed in the government held in the United States. It comprised 20 representative manufacturers, transportation, municipal and State labor leaders.

Great Britain also insisted that the status quo frontier fixed by the League of Nations and then the Council of the League was to be maintained.

"I do not see how anyone could reconstruct the story of this early bishop without feeling a renewed faith in our country. He met a multitude of storms. Many of them caused them sore trials. But he never wavered. He was hard and heady rouser of war, but his spirit had been born again. His face appeared underneath, underneath it all our country manifested then, and has continued to manifest, a high and indomitable strength of spirit and an unusual ability in crisis to choose the right course. Something has continued to guide the people. We cannot yet tell where it comes from, but it is still the still small voice. No storm has been violent enough to divert inspired men from constant carrying out of their duty."

"Through it all our country has acquired an unshakable sense of action which has never failed it, and furnishes its own answer to those who define it. It can afford to be oblivious to those who would deprecate it. America continues its own way unchallenged and unafraid."

GIVES FAITH IN NATION

"He had no idea," Mr. Coolidge said, "that he was preparing men for battle to the tune of 100,000. The League headquarters that the status quo line fixed by the League of Nations was intended to apply, and not the territorial situation of September 30, as the Turks recaptured the Dardanelles."

THE GOVERNMENT

"The government doubled its foreign trade and then became active agents in the selling of American goods abroad. The increase in sales of automobiles, tires, cotton and steel articles is definitely shown in the export report."

Lineberger Tells Women in Temperance Union of La Follette Danger

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PASADENA, Oct. 15.—National prohibition, achieved by the women of America after a half-century of work, is doomed to defeat if Senator La Follette's proposal for the admission of Prohibition to the Southern Conference of the National Temperance Union to take place.

Turning to John W. Davis' criticism of the economic policies of the Coolidge-Harding administration, Senator La Follette said that the La Follette plan would give Congress the right to overturn any state constitution which, in his opinion, was not in accordance with the "unwise financing policy" of the Coolidge administration.

The Democratic administration planted a mine under our economic system and blew it up and the Democrats try to hold us responsible for the debris," he said.

Turning to John W. Davis' criticism of the economic policies of the Coolidge-Harding administration, Senator La Follette said that the La Follette plan would give Congress the right to overturn any state constitution which, in his opinion, was not in accordance with the "unwise financing policy" of the Coolidge administration.

The Democratic administration planted a mine under our economic system and blew it up and the Democrats try to hold us responsible for the debris," he said.

"The time to stop a revolution is now, if you do not like it, it is when it starts. The introduction of a constitutional amendment is the first step toward defeat. The end, if you do not like the end, this step should be taken."

BROKER HELD IN DEATH ATTEMPT*Accused of Firing Shot at Partner's Wife*Complaint Says Apartment Was Terrorized*Intoxication Also Charged to Real Estate Man

On a charge of assault with intent to murder Mrs. A. Stephens of 1800 Grand View Avenue, a complaint was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammer against C. V. Raney, Hollywood realty broker, of the same address. Mrs. Stephens is the wife of Raney's partner and the assault took place Monday when Raney is charged to have fired at the woman for her down a flight of stairs with a pistol and terrorized an apartment house.

According to the stories told the Deputy District Attorney, Raney telephoned home he was coming to keep an appointment with a man there, but when he appeared was incensed to see that the man had forgotten the appointment though the man was waiting. He started to wrestle with Mrs. Raney, who warned him she would sue and escaped herself down the fire escape when Raney said he was going to get his gun.

Looking for Mrs. Raney, it was declared, when they went to the Stephens apartment and found a shot at Mrs. Stephens when she admitted knowledge of Mrs. Raney's whereabouts. She was then forced down to the office of the broker D. McDavid, where, it was charged, he threatened to shoot anyone who dared to call the police.

An acquaintance of Raney's dropped in soon. It was said, and succeeded in soothing him and taking away his revolver. Then Officers were called, and placed him under arrest.

William H. Adams of Detroit and G. B. Hegardt of Portland pointed out the necessity of preparing for a vastly increased truck traffic in the port which will come with the growth of the Los Angeles industrial life.

Technical papers of port development facilities were read by Maj.-Gen. William S. Studd, chairman of the Alabama State Dock Commission; Col. C. McDowell Townsend, New Orleans, and James P. Polk, general manager of the Port of Portland.

Today the delegates and their ladies will make an extensive tour of the San Pedro docks. Tomorrow they will visit Catalina Island. Saturday they will journey to San Diego, where they will be the guests of that city on their last day in California.

BAIL BROKERS CHARGED WITH THREAT TO KILL

Gus and Bill Henry, bail bond brokers with offices in the Phillips Building, were charged yesterday to kill T. D. Austin, another bail broker, in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark. The charge was issued after Austin had been sent by Federal authorities to the District Attorney's office with instructions to inform them of the asserted threats.

According to the charges, the Henrys, the threats came after Austin had testified before the Federal grand jury in Los Angeles, and if he had been employed by the Henrys. The brokerage business conducted by the Henrys, it is stated, is under investigation by Federal authorities.

HELP FOR CITY TREASURER*Official's Request for More Employees Approved by Director of Efficiency

City Treasurer Powell's request to the City Council for additional employees to handle the increased volume of work transacted by his office yesterday was approved by City Efficiency Director Knox, who recommended that one additional cashier, one book-keeper and four clerks be authorized for the treasury. The City Treasurer's request was also approved by the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, which sees a committee to the City Council headed by President J. Dabney Price of the Public Utilities Commission, urged that the interests of the public, the additional employees be authorized.

The tremendous backlog business handled by the City Treasurer can be seen forth in the City Efficiency Director's report in which he declared that the cash received this fiscal year will be $80,000, disbursements will be $60,000, and total of 14,000 checks will be issued.

During the first three months of the fiscal year the City Treasurer has received for the city and made available to the general public $255,457 in interest by loaning idle money to the city during the year.

YESTERDAY'S SESSION

Yesterday's session was featured by the arrival of the State Trustee, Commissioner Charles W. Wollenberg, president; James B. Gist, vice-president, and Messrs. Samuel E. Burke, Charles Albert Johnson, R. L. Ross, Alvin Boyden and George L. Jones.

Among the important statements of the report were the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of California, Grand Commander Boynton recommended that the body donate $10,000 as a sum to be used for the benefit of the children and the members of that body promptly made the proposed appropriation.

The masonic aid will be spent in the education of those of our children who are mentally worthy of schooling beyond the curriculum of the high schools, the funds for such schooling can come only from donations of friends of the homes. So far funds have been forthcoming in amounts ranging from $100 to $1,000 for the education of children who have been sent to vocational schools and the universities, but if the requirements of the masonic aid are undertaken, will more money will be needed in the near future.

"In the last year the home has received $1,000 to the amount of $1,000. One thoughtful and appropriate gift was by Brother A. Gaylord Beaman on behalf of the Knights of Pythias.

He tendered the check to the Trustees of the Mackay Business College. These scholarships were donated primarily for the benefit of boys and girls from home, with the understanding that they might also be available to other worthy children upon recommendation of the Board of Trustees."

MADE LIQUOR CUSTODIAN

Daniel O'Leary, Federal probation agent for many years here, has found the government bonded liquor warehouse in Los Angeles, where several hundred thousand dollars' worth of stock is kept, it was announced yesterday.

With the arrest of S. C. Stone, said to be a night watchman of a special police patrol in the vicinity of Seventh avenue and Washington street, late night, deputy sheriff and a companion reported the disappearance of a 13-year-old girl, the officers said the suspect will be questioned closely on the mysterious disappearance of Nina and Eddie Martin, who have been missing since last August.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark, who issued the complaint, Stone, who is in his 40s, is accused of forcing the young girl to remain witness to improper relations, after inducing her to go on an automobile ride with him; he then forced her to leave each from Stone and reported the matter to the District Attorney's office.

Stone is said to have patrolled the district on Washington street in the vicinity of the Martin girls were last seen, August 23, last.

Although a thorough search has been made for the girls in Los Angeles, California and other States no trace has been found.

Deputy Sheriff Stensland and Weir, who placed Stone under arrest last night, will question him today.

"They talk and talk until they're tired. They talk some today, tomorrow, maybe longer. It makes no difference Rosie stay with me. That's how we settle."

MOVE FROM CAMP

The brother said that the Whitler band wished to get Rosie back and take her to the rest of the country, probably to Arizona, from where the majority came. He said:

"They afraid we tell Tino Bimbo, the Porras (king of the gypsies) he is in a bunch of gypsies at Chicago with altogether 500 gypsy families under him. He is an old man. Very smart. He can't talk the language, so I never speak to him here and in old country try to have him $50 a year. When he die my father become king and get Tino Bimbo's great fortune. And if he die again, I have no idea about Rosie, he come here with many people and make much trouble for these Whitler bunch."

We have our own tent by itself. Next spring we take Rosie and Tino Bimbo to Mexico where Porras to Tino Bimbo is."

The Mitchell family has been in the United States twenty-two years, having come from Sicily. They are camping at the Shadydale Auto Camp, 3966 Mission Road, but have moved their camp a hundred yards from the main gypsy camp since the outbreak of the trouble.

These 125 agencies were reported to have contributed $1,000,000 to the campaign, which is up to another $100,000.

The campaign goal is $2,200,408, which will be the third largest in the United States and in number of agencies second to the largest.

Joseph Scott, a former president of the chamber, paid an eloquent tribute to R. W. Prichard, first vice-president of the chamber, for pioneer work in putting the chamber behind the campaign drive. All chancery and every organization out, and citizens of all ranks, conditions and shades of political belief, he pointed out, gave their support to the biggest co-operative undertaking, he said, that Los Angeles had ever shouldered. Total expenditures will be $4,238,897, of which $1,000,000 will be derived from endowment, earnings and other receipts of the beneficiary agencies and the other half being raised.

W. J. Schrum of Long Beach yesterday held a hearing to a charge of misrepresentation of his adopted daughter, Golda Mae Schrum, 13 years of age. The case was heard by Justice Wood and ball was set at $5000. The case was closed with the judge telling the child that he declared that Schrum attacked her a week after her adoption. Schrum's wife is suing him for divorce and proceedings are under way to get into the adoption.

Women's Minor Ills come from one cause

Chronic constipation is the plague of their lives, but thousands keep healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin.

WOMEN are so accustomed to finding themselves constipated that they are apt to make matters worse by indifference. Unfortunately many seem to think that it is easier to give the appearance of health with cosmetics, or stifle a headache with an opiate, than to remove the real cause by taking a good laxative.

The pill habit, of course, is not to be recommended, but any woman can take such a mild laxative as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin. You can assure that the dose can gradually be decreased and that there will be no shock or weakening of the system.

As is generally known, Syrup Pepin is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A spoonful will clean out the impacted matter and make you feel well by morning.

You should take a dose when you feel the slightest symptom of constipation, such as flatulence, tenesmus, loss of appetite, restlessness, bad breath, dull eyes, salivary skin, and to stop fevers and colds. Many do not wait for these symptoms, but take Syrup Pepin regularly, once a day. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin will be sent to you postpaid by mail. Do not include postage. It is free.

OUR PROGRAM IS FAMILY AFFAIRNew Canaries Add to Studio Serenity With SilencePiggy Wiggly Girls and Lenore Killian FeatureMrs. Baumgardt Gives Astronomy AddressTHE CLAIRE FORBES CRANE*

The program last evening was one of our nice family affairs. There was no noise and bustle in the studio—the performances of importance to be given not pre-arranged but to be thought of. Much as we like state occasions, the quiet and peacefulness last night was something. Even the canaries performed a discreet silence. Probably you have noticed that they are not singing as much as usual, and the anxiety you might feel about it is well founded. I want to tell you that usually birds like a particular bird when our activities are getting out of hand, and this is the case with the Piggy Wiggly Girls. Lenore Killian, conductor, and Dr. Max Baumann, radio astronomer, made us the guests yesterday. Have you seen our opening several days ago in the city? It did not seem that the record business is in a small measure of profit, which Radioland got for the privilege of hearing the Piggy Wiggly Girls. Our girls gave beautiful music. One of the great merits of their success is their enthusiasm.

LENORE KILLIAN PLEASES

Our human songbirds come to us from other cities, with a wide variety of voices, and we have grown to love them again! So when one returns makes a permanent place for herself. We are very glad for her interest given to Lenore Killian, coming in some months ago and made her radio debut at the University. She has been well fitted for broadcast and her repeated appearance more than justified this last night the audience's desire to have Lenore's voice into hearing. Accompanied by Piggy Wiggly Girls, she sang "My Heart, the Sweet Voice," and the combination proved an instantaneous success. The Day is Ended." "The Love of Life," "I'm a Girl," "I'm a Girl," were given with great interpretations. When she sang "Sing Me to Sleep," with the delicate, her warm voice and instrumentals blended into a perfect whole.

MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is extremely sensitive to the fact that it is important that every statement will confer a favor or disfavor by calling attention to the editorial position.

THE QUEEN'S TASTE:
Queen Mary of England is wearing a knitted suit, but that is no sign that it will make a hit in Hollywood. There they would follow the Prince farther than they would
the Queen.

SOURCES OF POWER:
There is more water power in Africa
than in any other part of the world. According to one school of scientists, that is where the future population will be. Congestion will set in where the water power is greatest.

SURELY DEAD:
The total killing by railroads at grade
crossings last year reached the impressive
total of 5552. That sounds like a chapter from the annals of the world's great battles.
Most of the fatalities were of people who were dead sure that they could beat the train to the crossing. Well, they are dead,

RUSTLESS STEEL:
Over at Sheffield, the ancient heart of the steel industry, a working chemist is said
to have invented a stainless, rust-proof steel. Experiments with it are also being made in Pittsburgh. Such a discovery would be a wonderful thing for everybody outside of the steel industry. In that line a heavy proportion of the business is in replacement.
The steel that rusts calls loudly for something new and this supplies the inspiration for another mill and foundry. Of course, it is possible that if steel never wanted, spoiled, rusted or lost its color it would be still greater use for it.

DEFENDING THE GOODS:
On a show-down Calvin Coolidge is a real progressive and La Follette a feeble imitation. When he was in the State Assembly
twenty years ago Coolidge drafted and obtained
the passage of antimonopoly and antidiscriminatory bills. Also he supported and worked for bills for woman suffrage,
direct election of Senators, freedom
and teacher pensions, restriction of child labor, providing public playgrounds, guaranteeing
the day of rest and protection of women workers. He also worked for most of the labor legislation that was proposed at the time. These were genuine accomplishments and not merely conversation. Coolidge has the idea that if a thing is worth while a year of debate is unnecessary.

NOTHING STIRRING:
Henry Ford feels that if Muscle Shoals
is a political rather than a business proposition
he doesn't care to have anything to do with it. When Congressmen can wrangle for two years over a transaction he could complete in five minutes he would prefer to keep his fingers out of the mess. He doesn't need Muscle Shoals, anyhow. He can make $100 Ford in a day and that should keep him reasonably busy. Just to show what can be done in his line he produced one of his full-fledged road beetles from nothing
within the span of nine minutes. It was better than taking a rabbit from a plug hat. So it is that Henry will keep on making his bugs and cut out all this Muscle Shoals conversation until such time as Uncle Sam has a proposition to make on his own account.

HUNTING A PEDIGREE:
For some years past various Japanese savants have contended that Japanese are in reality not Mongolians, but offshoots of the white race. These theories have received slight credence in the western world,
but persons coming in contact with the higher classes have been careful to treat such ideas respectfully. Nothing more deeply affronts a Japanese than to find himself referred to as a Mongolian.

Now the Japanese government has stepped forward and put its official stamp of approbation on the theory that the people of Nip-pon are a branch of the Caucasians. The government authorized Prof. Matsumoto, a noted anthropologist of the Tohoku Imperial University, to investigate the subject. He did so and established what he deemed decisive proof of Japan's claims to being descended from the white races.

His findings are simple. The first inhabitants of Japan were the Ainus of the Stone
Age and the like their modern descendants.
There while, in this the scholar was opposed to the more visionary statements
of other professors who have long professed to know that the original inhabitants of Japan were Greeks. These wanderers who became stranded on faraway shores. The only proof they offer of this contention is that the early name of Japan
was Yamato, which is likewise a Greek word.
But Prof. Matsumoto laughs this idea to scorn, while declaring that the skulls of early Ainus and those in the American Museum of Natural History are exactly similar,
thus showing that they belonged to allied races.

The discussion would appear foolish were it not an indication of the terrible wound to Japan's pride caused by discrimination against her nationals. While it may bolster her contentions to equality here, it is likely to further alienate the other Asiatic races
from her, as they are fiercely proud of their pure Mongolian blood. Japan's dream of welding the Orient into one unit against European aggression is likely to prove abortive,
so long as she stands visibly beneath
the accusation that she is not white.

THE NOBLEST PART:
America's quota for the German loan
under the Dawes restoration plan was over-subscribed almost $400,000,000. The allotment to the United States was $10,000,000,
while the actual subscriptions amounted to $500,000,000. This eagerness of American investors to purchase German securities is an evidence of the confidence which they feel in the group of American bankers who recommended the loan as a safe investment
and in the Americans committee headed by Gen. Dawes, that proposed the loan as an aid to the restoration of Europe.

The American people did not go into the World War to repay old grudges, to avenge wrongs or to make financial profit out of a neighbor's extremity.
They were moved by a desire to bring peace back to the world and to make life on this planet safe for the women and children of this and future generations.
They joined the foes of Germany because they regarded the German government as the aggressor; but, as President Wilson so justly said, it was upon a militaristic government and not upon the German people
that they were making war.

That militaristic government has passed.
Germany is now a rapacious, and no quarrel
exists between the American and the German people. But there is no disposition in this country to aid Germany to evade repaying the damages done by her troops during the war. The present loan is for the purpose of enabling German industry to get upon its feet, to get back into the working machinery of Europe and the world, to earn
the money necessary to make reparation
payments.

The majority of the American people are convinced that Germany will play fair, if but given the opportunity; that she will keep her pledges for the repayment of the present loans and the discharge of her just debts. Back of the Germany of today is the record of a people who in past generations were frugal and honest. Ever since the Franco-German War the people have been better than the government. It is possible that Germany will misuse the funds advanced toward her; but the oversubscription of the German loan proves that American investors
do not regard this as probable.

When the history of the present decade
is written the part taken by the United States in the restoration of Europe will receive the highest encomium. The name of Gen. Dawes will always be associated with the peace plan of 1924. When all European statesmen and diplomats had failed, when the boldest hearts were beginning to despair
of the restoration of war-wasted and politically disorganized Europe, the American experts came forward with a plan that gives
the fairest, the noblest, promise of success.
It is neither political nor militaristic; it might be termed an observance of the Golden

Rule. Under the Dawes plan Germany and France must go forward hand in hand. The prosperity of one is joined to that of the other. If German industry is restored, Germany is again economically prosperous. France will receive the reparation payments pledged under the Treaty of Versailles. It is to the interest of France as to every other nation to which Germany is indebted, to have Germany again in a position
to meet her financial obligations.

And in aiding in the restoration of Europe
Gen. Dawes and his associates gave a marked impetus to American commerce and industry. The September report of the Department of Commerce shows that the exports for that month reached the highest total in three years. They are nearly double the exports for September, 1913. The Department of Commerce figures are: September, 1913, $218,240,000; September, 1924, $427,000,000.

In commenting on the increase in our export trade Secretary Hoover said:

I believe we are in quantitative increase in foreign trade the largest increase of any nation. It means that we are taking a larger and larger position in the world's foreign trade. Our trade is becoming steadily more important month by month for the last three years. There has been a tendency for world trade to expand with the gradual recovery from war conditions. We are getting a larger portion of this expansion than any other nation. So it is apparent that in helping Europe

we have been helping ourselves. The foreign policy of the present administration
has been an important factor in building up this foreign trade. It has enabled American workmen to secure employment, for the products of American farms and American factories. We are passing through one of the most glorious epochs in American history;
and we are carrying us with a group of malcontents and radicals who are seeking to stir a mutiny against the captain and the other officers of the good ship of state.

THE LINCOLN FILM:
Too much commendation cannot be given to the filming of the story of the Great Emancipator, as told in "The Dramatic Life of Abraham Lincoln," which is now being shown at a local theater. For exceeding in its excellence and interest the general run of entertainment, the picture compels not only admiration for its artistic qualities, but may well be regarded as conveying a message of the deepest personal significance to everyone who views its unfoldment. It is the greatest contribution to patriotism and good citizenship that the screen has yet
given us, and no better example of any production
that is involved, but because it re-creates for the present generation the simplest and most compelling figure in the history of the nation.

Lincoln's ideals are the ideals of the greater proportion of the American public,
and truly to know them and see their fulfillment in his life and accomplishments as these have been visualized in this motion picture is to draw closer in understanding to the man himself. Such contact, indeed, is something far more forceful and intimate than could be felt through the reading of a dozen volumes of biography. The depths and the riches of the man's human feeling
for every fellow-man, the wonderful kindness that he exhibited even toward those who impeded his progress toward his destined aims, the irresistible determination and strength that he manifested in all his public life have been brought back as something real.

One incident among others stands out in the minds of many who have seen the production and that is where Lincoln pardons
the sot who had failed in his duty. It is a historical incident, of course—one that has
been spoken of frequently by his admirers
who recall his living presence.

This incident has been aptly translated to
the minds of many who have seen the
production and that is where Lincoln pardons
the sot who had failed in his duty. It is
a historical incident, of course—one that has
been spoken of frequently by his admirers
who recall his living presence.

This incident has been aptly translated to

the medium of the screen. It presents at once the character of Lincoln. Right in the bosom of war's disaster he had the courage to pause and consider a soldier's devotion to his mother. The boy had merely asked that the news of his disgrace be withheld
from her, but Lincoln himself saw reason to give him his life because a lad who had shown such fondness for his mother must have plenty of good in him, despite his momentary lapse from duty.

The picture is replete with incidents of this kind. In fact, it is an scene of perfection in the treatment of biographical data.
Instead of defacing the interest to more general happenings of the war and the battles the story has been centered around the figure of the President. The glimpses of the battles are included; in fact, they occupy a considerable portion of the production, but no extraneous incident detracts in the least from the remarkable and human-delineation of character, which has been achieved in such a way as to be absolutely unforgettable.

THE INCORRIGIBLE PARENT:
The inefficient—and sometimes incorrigible—parent has become a grave public problem.

The records of the police department and Sheriff's office show a thoroughly alarming
increase in youthful delinquency and juvenile crime.

In former days the desperado was always pictured as a man, heavy with years and huge mustaches. The real desperado of today is an immature boy with down on his
lip. The criminal brought up for sentence for flagrant and violent crimes usually looks like a high school boy.

The case of the girl offender is not much different. The outcast of today is usually of riper age.

The police records of the day seem to breath forth that line from Kipling's "Gentlemen Rankers":

"God help us; for we knew the worst too young."

In keeping with modern police methods
an effort is always made to find out what home influences have surrounded these young delinquents who end their careers in prison. In nine cases out of ten the immediate cause is: "Bad."

The inevitable conclusion is that indifferent parents are largely to blame for the avalanche of minor delinquency. Society is encumbered with parents who—either through viciousness, ignorance or neglect—are turning loose a continual stream of potential trouble-makers in the children.

In an easier and simpler day it was put down as a principle that the upbringing of children was nobody's business but that of the parents themselves; that children were the creatures of private property and that their education and conduct were a family matter between themselves and their parents. Like other principles, this has been outgrown. Circumstances have changed. Society has become more complex. Parents have ceased to have the sole right in the matter. It has become a matter of protecting society.

The problem is growing worse and worse.
The present generation has a worse police
record than any that has preceded it.

What's to be done about it? The relations between the decent element of society and the underworld is approximate to a perpetual war. And the forces of the underworld are drawing an appalling number of young recruits.

What enormously complicates the police
problem is that the way to deal with these immature offenders is not clear. They cannot be treated as hardened crooks; yet they cannot be allowed to run free of restraint.
It is a problem beyond the capacity of the ordinary machinery of law enforcement.

The basic difficulty can be corrected only in the home. And yet these homes are mostly failing in their responsibilities.

The remedy is not clear to see. The only fact that stands out stark and plain is that a remedy must be found. Some way must be found whereby to force parents to bring up their children properly—or to teach them to.

There is a statute making it a crime to contribute to delinquency of minor children.
Undoubtedly, many parents are technically guilty under the provisions of this law.
They are seldom prosecuted under it, however. A suggestion worthy of consideration is that a bill shall be introduced at the next session of the Legislature making parents directly responsible for the delinquencies of their children and punishable as such.

But, in the last analysis, to bring up a child properly is a problem requiring brains
and high moral responsibility. There is no law which can put brains and responsibility
into incapable people.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Spusquashan of France

Dekashab and Nihawads, Indian chiefs of the blood, from the Tuscarora Reservation in Canada, have arrived in Paris. With their plumed headgear and colorful clothing they are a source of great attraction on the boulevards. Dekashab obliged the authorities
by singing an Indian love song at the radio station and emitting one of the blood-curdling war songs of his hawk ancestors.

The Parisians are delighted with the gentle manners of the chiefs; above all they like
their musical voices and their sonorous language. In that respect they resemble King

Francis I at the time when Jacques Cartier,
the explorer, brought two Indians with him
from the New World to France.

"Qui es que ton nom?" asked the King of one of the chiefs. "Sousquashan." "What does it mean?" the King further inquired.

"It means, king, chief, commander, prince,
who leads his people. The man who is not like us will be a bad carrier, after all."

A dull razor blade and a dainty strange bird with an unusually long bill is reported from Florida.

Memory tests are all right, but the
winner is the man who remembers the
first girl he kissed and the name of his first pet dog.

In pronouncing La Follette the accident is on the Foll, say those who asked him about it. This syllable is very seven varieties a pretty close race for its honor in publicity.

The Prince of Wales is reported to have run away with a strange bird.

He left his plane and went to a resort hotel.

Memory tests are all right, but the
winner is the man who remembers the name of his first pet dog.

The reason for all the police
shakesups is not being given out, but it probably will become apparent when the spring election gets near enough to open

the mail carrier.

There's no fun in running a kindergarten in Abyssinia. The kindergarten there has 236 letters.

That would almost be a load for
the mail carrier.

Now that the women of Maryland
are taking to tanning and feathering
one another we may look for another brand of chicken to take the place of the Rhode Island
duck.

The upstarts say that jazz is going fast. But your life is it. Some

of it goes so fast that the hot-footers
have to hump themselves to keep up with it.

Historians are trying to run down
the man who invented jazz. When they finally catch the culprit
they will probably find him hiding behind a skirt. And then, perhaps,
it won't be a man.

The upstarts say that jazz is going
fast. But your life is it. Some

of it goes so fast that the hot-footers
have to hump themselves to keep up with it.

Mr. What's His Name Bought a Used Car...

You'll see him next Sunday as he drives along the highway. He and his family are enjoying the freedom they so long denied themselves. He can turn to the left for the beaches—to the right for hills and mountains. An endless highway is before him!

Ask him where he bought his car and he will tell you—as thousands of others will—that he bought it through the Automobile columns of the Los Angeles Times; that he found the cars advertised in The Times were better cars—that if you seek an automobile it will pay you to read—

NOVELTY IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

BY OLIVE GRAY

UP-TO-DATE

The glib note, almost contemptuous in the season's haut, courtly attainments, is frequently expressed in gold leather, applied in bold designs, upon dresses, wraps and millinery. If this glibness, seems a bit haughty, the eye is soon accustomed to the dazzling and as is ever true regarding the dictates of Madame de Mode, meek acceptance is certain to result, probably to be succeeded by enthusiasm.

CHINESE COLORING

BANK ROBBERS HOLD UP AGENCY*Second Job in Two Days Nets $2000 for Trio*Thieves Operate at Noon and Work Quickly*Successive Hold-ups Follow Shake-up of Police

In the second bank hold-up in two days, two armed but unmasked robbers obtained $2000 yesterday and escaped in a touring car driven by a third. The robbery was at an agency of the United States National Bank at Forty-third and Flower streets. The successive robberies followed a wide-reaching shake-up of the police department announced on Monday.

The robbery of yesterday took place at noon, when a car drew up in front of the bank and the robbers got out. Inside were H. S. Pierce, manager of the agency, and a girl bookkeeper. The two robbers entered, took revolver and demanded Pierce and the bookkeeper to throw up their hands. Then they seized several packages of bills and hurried out.

To George Baird and Robinson, who investigated the robbery, Pierce described the robbers as follows: One, an American, about 21 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches tall, 160 pounds, light complexion, the other, an Italian, about 27, 6 feet 6 inches, 125 pounds, black mustache, no hat. The latter wore a blue shirt and brown coat.

An electrically operated razor, with revolving blades has been put on the market.

JAPAN TO ELECTRIFY RAILWAYS*Official Here to Study Systems and Contract for New Equipment

Electricification of some 400 miles of the main lines of the Japanese government railway forms a part of the industrial program providing for many public improvements adopted in Japan. It was stated yesterday by T. Ogawara of Tokio, assistant director of the government railway engineering bureau.

Ogawara, who is at the Biltmore, heads a group of five Japanese railway officials in this country to study the possibilities of contracts for the new system. During their stay here the Japanese will inspect hydroelectric plants, electric railways and the establishments of the leading manufacturers of electric equipment in the East.

"We are only making a beginning in the electrification of our roads in Japan," said Ogawara.

The first line to put in electric equipment is only some fifty miles in length, but eventually we plan to extend the system over 10,000 miles of the principal railroads owned by the government.

The chief part of our order for equipment consists of twelve electric locomotives.

He added that the government contemplates an extensive development of water power in connection with the electrification of its roads and will probably rely on hydroelectric power. He stated that some 7000 miles of the railways of Japan are owned by the government, while 2000 miles are operated by private interests.

Wiggins Bust Fund Has Many Dollar Donors*Official Here to Study Systems and Contract for New Equipment

More than 200 letters containing contributions for the modeling of the bust of Frank Wiggins, veteran secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, which is to be placed at the entrance of the new chamber home at Twelfth and Broadway, have been received.

In addition to the contributions, Fred L. Alles, chairman of the committee, stated that no donation should exceed $1. The total amount of the bust will be approximately $5000.

The checks received are stamped with a souvenir seal. Secretary Wiggins has served his office continuously for twenty-eight years.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL BIDS SET FOR NEXT MONTH

Bids will be received by the City Council during the latter part of November for automatic traffic signals to be developed for 100 street intersections outside of the congested district and which are not now equipped. Specifications for the traffic signals were approved yesterday by the City Council, which authorized bids to be opened and bidding to all manufacturers of automatic traffic signal devices.

FOUR IN DRY LAW NET

Four asserted bootleggers were arrested by Federal prohibition agents yesterday and placed in the County Jail. Joe Gentile and Andrew P. Coughlin, both of whom worked for Pierce, and the bookkeeper who threw up their hands. Then they seized several packages of bills and hurried out.

To George Baird and Robinson,

Thirteen-Story Garage Will be Started Shortly*Work will start within thirty days on the erection of a height-limit garage and loft building adjoining the Transportation Building on the southwest corner of Seventh and Los Angeles streets.

It was announced yesterday by Walker & Elsen, local architects. The property has a frontage of 150 feet on Los Angeles street and a depth of 125 feet.

According to specifications, seven stories will be arranged to accommodate automobiles while the remaining stories will be used for loft space. Construction will be of reinforced concrete, Class A, fireproof and thirteen stories high.

Those readers and movers are constantly on the lookout for good humor, and from their contributions selections are made weekly for the "Local Laughs" round town in California. Theater, Los Angeles, and numerous other theaters. With such an army of contributors, film may be expected to continue to command the essence of Southern California gaiety, and every foot of it is packed with hearty laughs.

Since those who haven't joined in the fun may as well start now, anybody may submit jokes, but keep them within thirty words. For the best ones there is $5.

Other cash prizes are $3, $2 and twelve of $1 each.

Prizes may be written on separate sheets of paper, with name and address on each sheet, or on the coupon printed elsewhere.

GIRL USHER PLEADS FOR PROBATION

Fine Clothes Burglary Case is Transferred to Juvenile Court

The case of Patricia Baird, 19-year-old theater usher, who pleaded guilty in Judge Hard's court to a charge of burglary in an attempt to obtain fine clothes, was transferred to Juvenile Judge Archibald's court yesterday for further proceedings.

The girl admitted entering the Krystal Fur Shop at 429 South Flower street, September 3, last. According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan, the girl, an orphan, was out for the evening with a male friend who told her he did not care for her clothes.

Being without funds with which to purchase the raiment she desired, the girl was told she had effected entrance to the fur store by breaking a window with the heel of her shoe. In doing this she set off a burglar alarm which was inside the store where she was arrested by a special patrolman.

Mrs. Baird has filed application for probation, and a hearing on her petition soon will be conducted before Judge Archibald.

TEN TESTIFY TO FRAUD

At a hearing yesterday before Deputy Corporation Commissioner Michael on charges of false representation, it was against the John P. Mills Organization, Inc., of Long Beach, in connection with the sale of Perfecto Refinery Company stock, that the stock was sold against the company. The hearing was continued until November 12, next, to allow the organization to answer the complaint. According to testimony the stock was sold on the representation that it was treasury stock of the company and proposed to be used to be used to purchase supplies and for the erection of a refinery plant. It was discovered, witness asserted, that the stock was privately owned by Mills.

The wife in the case is Blenda Hanson and, according to the complainant, the defendants concealed her from her husband on several occasions during the last year for the purpose of causing an attachment to him for a week.

LEAD FOR "SWAN"

LASKY DISCOVERS "CLEVER YOUNG ACTRESS"

By Grace Kingsley

You needn't think that, having sent Betty Bronson joyously on her way as star of "Peter Pan" that Jesse L. Lasky has stopped Columbusing. In fact, his success in that venture has heartened him all up for further ventures along that line.

Yesterday he announced the discovery of another find, this time to play the title role in a picturization of Molnar's "The Swan," which is to be made next year.

Frances Howard is the young woman's name. She is 19 years of age, a beauty, and said to be an artistic genius. Miss Howard is playing at the Lyceum in "The Best People," and sum to show you how much Mr. Lasky believes in her, he sent a long communication concerning his choice.

"It may seem 'extraordinary,' said Mr. Lasky, "that we should give a role of such importance as 'The Swan' to a young girl who has no screen experience. But in Miss Howard we firmly believe we not only have acquired the ideal player for the part, but that we shall have made a distinct discovery for motion pictures. She has youth and beauty, besides thorough dramatic training through experience, on the theatrical stage."

As a matter of fact, she was chosen from a large number of players, several of them well-known screen artists, who were bold candidates for the role. Moreover, her discovery was entirely by happy accident. I was a member of a party attending "The Best People" at the Lyceum. The star was Miss Sadie Saldanak, wife of Mr. Molnar. At dinner I had been telling Miss Fedak of our attempts to find a girl who would be ideal for the swan on the screen. When Miss Howard appeared on the stage, Miss Fedak raged at my arm and said that there was the girl who should play the role. After the performance we made arrangements for Miss Howard to be given a film test in our studio next day. We were all delighted with her and a contract was signed immediately.

Although Miss Howard is not yet 20 years of age, she has been on the screen for about five years. She began her stage career with a small part in the musical comedy, "Oh, Lady, Lady." After playing in another musical show, she got her first part in straight comedy in "The Charn School." She has also appeared in "The Intimate Strangers," with Eddie Borden, "The Peacock," "Footloose," and other productions.

During the summer she played leads in various stock companies.

Born in Chicago, Miss. Howard ran away from home to go on the stage, although up to that time she had never seen a play in her life. She was happy in her work and very good, though never discovered her whereabouts and threatened to have authorities send her back to school. However, she informed her parents that she was progressing, and they finished by giving her their blessing.

The play is now being produced at the Paramount studios on Long Island by Dimitri Buchowski, with Ricardo Cortes in the role of the tutor and Adolph Menjou in the part of the prince.

FORREST STANLEY

UNIVERSAL LEAD

Forrest Stanley has been engaged by Universal to play the lead in the Jewel special "Up the Ladder," adapted from the well-known play of the same name by Owen Davis. He will play the part of a young inventor who discovers a method of being able to look with the aid of a telescope arrangement, the person to whom he is talking over the telephone.

Stanley has also secured roles in a number of noteworthy successes, including B. P. Schulberg's "The Breath of Scandal," "Madame X," and "Pride of Palomar." The other principals in the cast include Oliver Ann Alice, Margaret Livingston, George Faust and Holmes Herbert. The production is being directed by Ed Sloman.

Why
F&C styles come faster, look smarter, last longer!

Any Foreman & Clark window, coast to coast, is a dependable forecast, two months ahead of the styles and models that will arrive throughout the retail industry that much later. The weekly work of Foreman & Clark window men, in felt slippers and shirt sleeves, between evening and morning . . . is the weekly "night letter" of latest styles to local clothing men. Come down some Tuesday or Thursday night and see who watches the boys do their stuff. Foreman & Clark styles leave New York earlier, travel faster, arrive sooner, than the same styles through any other distribution channels. And naturally enough! They make one jump from our own factories to you, instead of six costly calls at middleman, jobber, wholesaler, etc. They net nobody profit but you and us. They cost more to make, less to sell. Moreover . . . F & C factories ship F & C styles not semi-annually, or quarterly or monthly! DAILY shipments to our upstairs stores from coast to coast keep a constant flow of new models streaming in and out of our big stocks, upsetting any comparative style service in the clothing industry!

built smoothly and carefully into every Foreman and Clark suit and overcoat, by Foreman and Clark tailors, in our own five great factories, entirely owned and operated by Foreman and Clark.

Collar—shoulder and sleeve—the starting point of everything in building clothes. Style starts there, fit starts there, tailoring starts there. Build these three units by hand, shape them, stitch them, drape them by hand . . . and good clothes are possible. Build them any other way, and good clothes are impossible.

The Foreman and Clark Collar

Cut over copyright patterns exclusive with Foreman & Clark, lies flat at the back, curved at the sides, snug in the front. Clothing men call it the best collar put in any brand of clothes. We hand-fell it, hand-set it, hand-finish it. We join with a slightly coned shoulder that runs free and smooth, brings the head of the sleeve just to the point of your shoulder, and gives any style a fine start!

In this and many other ways manufacturing precision in Foreman & Clark's five factories has been carried to a point heretofore undreamed of in the clothing industry. It is still unapproached by other plants.

To a few men these prices will seem to day "It can't be done . . . good clothes, fine clothes, cannot be sold so low." But to half a million present wearers . . . and another half a million of their friends, these prices merely say "Here is the year-round level of prices at which hand-tailored, all-wool guaranteed clothes can be built, sold and guaranteed. By the world's largest clothiers when the profits are high and overhead is cut three quarters, held constant one half, and when these savings are created by tremendous volume . . . are paid to the public!"

Fine linen, hand-tailored suits
match the business . . .

- A—Pleated Belgian canvas coat body, instead of stiff cotton canvas.
- B—Silver Herringbone, instead of loosely woven haircloth.
- C—One-eighth inch lockstitch, a plain or diamond pattern, instead of one or two parallel threads.
- D—Hand-shaped, hand-felled, one-piece collar.

The finest product of the largest makers and retailers of men's clothing in America!

Foreman & Clark clothes are never "just the same" one season to the next. We have never merely "held our own" keeping prices high and prices low. The slogan Trade Upstairs and Save $10.00 is still but your actual saving has steadily increased. We have now more than 1000 stores, making new contracts, new volume! That means more work for us, more work for our tailors, more work for our own five factories, new customers, new volume! That means more work for us, more work for our tailors, more work for our own five factories, lower overhead in every upstairs store . . . and more time for finer tailoring, more care and quality! More money to put into the actual quality and tailoring, into the styling and textures!
